Description of his

"On the Green River Colorado"

The Grand Canyon may be said to commence about here, although the altitude of the rocks does not compare with the canyon proper which increase as the river descends - but being more diversified with also a more abundant growth of timber makes up in picturesqueness what it lacks in grandeur since the upper part of the Garrison district is more easy of access than the lower part of the canyon -

On the Green River Colorado

The point of view is chosen on the east side of the river about 12 miles above the junction of the Green and Garrison

Dear Sir

I wish, and for time have wished to thank you, and through you Mr Corcoran, and the trustees of the art gallery, for your kindness and consideration, and theirs, in permitting the copy to be made of the copy of John Randolph. M<sup>r</sup> Guillaume's copy is a most admirable one, and, for the ability to make it so completely & expressively, he is indebted to the opportunity afforded by you to have the original at his studio. As my cousin said to me, when the first freshness of color has worn away, it will be difficult to distinguish it from the original. Thanking you for him & for myself, believe me very truly

Baltimore, April 22. 1881.

My dear Sir.

The Flying Mercury
by Gian de Boulogne was obtained in Rome, and cost there 240 lire. You know the lire is the same as the franc. The cast is very fragile and was much broken.
Mr. Walters is much out of town, and would have to come here to see my books to get information on these points. I have a catalogue of the casts executed at the Louvre and this Flying Mercury is not among them. So I imagine you can only get it in Rouen

In haste & yours truly

Mr. McLeod.

fear that he would consider it a violation of my contract
